Why join?

OLMC continues to provide an effective link between organic livestock producers and the growing market for organic meat. OLMC has a range of customers in each retail sector i.e. supermarkets, specialist wholesalers and independent butchers.

By joining you will be able to play an important role in consolidating OLMC's position as having "preferred supplier status" with its customers.

Whilst OLMC is happy to deal with non members, it is firmly committed to and has adopted a long term marketing strategy that will ensure the organic market for livestock grows in a sustainable way and that its members get the best possible returns.
